

Authors - Notizie sugli autori

Barbara Barbieri is associate professor at the Department of Political and Social Sciences of the University of Cagliari (Italy), where she teaches Psychology of Human Resource, and she is at the moment the course leader of the Master's degree in Public Administration Sciences. She received her Ph.D. in Social and Developmental Psychology from the Catholic University of Milan. Her area of research concerns the relationship between the individual and the organization, and various themes are explored in this field: psychological well-being at work; the organizational socialization processes; gender and work; organizational learning and the the management of human capital.

E-mail: barbara.barbieri@unica.it

Riccardo Bodini is the Director of Euricse, a research foundation focusing on knowledge development and innovation for cooperative and social enterprises. He joined Euricse in 2010 to work on project development, and has since held positions as Coordinator (2012-2015) and General Coordinator (2016-2018). In addition to managing the Foundation, Riccardo works directly with public sector agencies, cooperatives and social enterprises on applied research and consulting projects ranging from strategic planning and organizational design to policy analysis. Riccardo graduated summa cum laude in Communication studies at the University of Bologna and obtained a Master in Public Policy from the University of Chicago.

E-mail: Riccardo.bodini@euricse.eu

Federico Butera is professor emeritus of Organization Sciences and architect of complex organizations. From 1988 to 2013 full professor at the University of Milano Bicocca and at the Sapienza University of Rome. Founder and president of Irso-Istituto for Action Research on Organization and Systems since 1974. He has been editor in chief of the journal Studi Organizzativi since 1998. He authored over 250 articles and 37 books in Italy and abroad. His latest books are Organizzazione e società. Innovare le organizzazioni dell'Italia che vogliamo, printed by Marsilio, and Coesione e

Doi: 10.3280/SO2022-001012

Studi organizzativi n. 1 2022- Issn 0391-8769, Issn-e 1972-4969

innovazione. Il patto per il lavoro dell'Emilia-Romagna (with Patrizio Bianchi, Giorgio De Michelis, Paolo Perulli, Francesco Seghezzi, Gianluca Scarano), printed by Il Mulino.

E-mail: federico.butera@irso.it

Luigi Campagna is adjunct professor at the POLIMI Graduate School of Management where he teaches Organizational Theory and Design. He was adjunct professor of Organizational Systems at the Faculty of Management Engineering of the Politecnico di Milano. He works as management consultant for many Italians and multinational companies to develop new organization models, knowledge management and change management systems.

E-mail: campagna@mip.polimi.it.

Mimmo Carrieri is a retired Professor of Economic Sociology and Sociology of Employment Relations at “Sapienza”, University of Rome. He is currently Professor of Human Resource Management at Luiss University “Guido Carli”, Rome. His research interest focuses on social changes of labour, industrial relations, trade unions and their perspectives. His latest books are the following: Al bivio, Sindacato, lavoro rappresentanza nell'Italia di oggi (Donzelli, 2016); Relazioni industriali (Egea, 2018); Il lavoro al tempo del Covid (Arcadia, 2021).

E-mail: domenico.carrieri@uniroma1.it

Alessia Contu is full professor at the College of Management, University of Massachusetts Boston, where she served as Chair of the Management department between 2014-21. She has studied politics and resistance in MNCs, SMEs & NGOs, the role of hegemonic management discourses e.g. ‘learning’ discourse, or the ‘partnership’ discourse in reproducing unequal work relations; and that of innovation, knowledge creation and sharing in communities of practice. Alessia has been studying and advocating intellectual activism as a form of engaged scholarship: www.engagedscholars.org. Her current empirical research is on justice, diversity, equity and inclusion in management education, and democratic organisational forms.

Email: Alessia.Contu@umb.edu

Rossella Di Federico is researcher of Economic sociology at the Faculty of Communication Studies of the University of Teramo (Italy) where she teaches Human Resource Management and is member of the Scientific Council of the Centre for Research on Ecological Transition, Sustainable Development and Global Challenges. She represented Italy in European projects carried out with AIAS (Amsterdam Institute for Advanced Labour Studies - University of Amsterdam). Her areas of research include human resource management and labour relations in SMEs, precarious work, bargaining and social dialogue in the public and private sector in Italy.

E-mail: rdifederico@unite.it

Edoardo Della Torre is a Professor of Human Resource Management and Organization at the University of Bergamo, Italy. His research develops around the complementarities between collective and individual dimensions of employment relationships and includes human capital, strategic compensation, employee voice and employee wellbeing. His works have been published in journals such as British Journal of Management, Human Relations, Human Resource Management Journal, Human Resource Management.

E-mail: edoardo.dellatorre@unibg.it

Luisella Erlicher is a Faculty member at POLIMI Graduate School of Management. She was an adjunct professor at Politecnico of Milan and at University of Siena. She is partner of the management consulting firm Mays International, based in Rome. Her professional activity, both as a consultant and an academic, is focused on innovation of organizational models and paradigms, new technologies' participatory design, design thinking for product, service and organization innovation, integration and collaboration between networks of autonomous teams

E-mail: l.erlicher@mip.polimi.it

Manuela Galetto is Associate Professor of Employment Relations at the Industrial Relations Research Unit of the Warwick Business School, University of Warwick. Her research focuses on multi-level governance of industrial relations and, in particular, on sector-driven arrangements and articulation mechanisms between organisational, national and European levels of collective bargaining. Manuela has published in the European Journal of Industrial Relations, Human Resource Management Journal, and Industrial Relations: A Journal of Economy and Society.

E-mail: manuela.galetto@wbs.ac.uk

Francesco Eugenio Iannuzzi is a research associate at the Ca' Foscari University of Venice. He holds a PhD in Social Sciences from the University of Padua. He carried out research activities at the University of Padua, and he was a PhD visiting student at the University of Leeds and Barcelona. His research interests regard labour process transformation, technology, labour market segmentation and service work. Currently, he is involved in a research project dealing with the impact of the green transition on firms and the labour processes.

E-mail: francesco.iannuzzi@unive.it.

Michele Pasinetti is the Director General of CAUTO social cooperative. He graduated cum laude in management engineering and has a PhD in design and management of integrated services from the University of Brescia and the Copenhagen Business School, and a diploma in Cooperation and Development from the International Policy Studies Institute of Milan. Prior to joining the CAUTO Network he worked in different business contexts, ranging from third sector organizations to consulting and business start-ups, combining a managerial approach with the attention to integrated sustainability. Over the years he studied the issue of organizational change, guiding this process within the CAUTO Network. He is Vice President of Confcooperative Brescia.

E-mail: michele.pasinetti@cauto.it

Luciano Pero has a PhD in Mathematical Logic and Artificial Intelligence. He is currently an adjunct professor at the POLIMI Graduate School of Management. He was an adjunct professor at various universities (Politecnico di Milano, Milano Statale, Milano Bicocca). He carries out managerial consultancy activities for technological and organizational innovation. He has carried out research on professionalism, new technologies, industrial relations, working hours, worker participation.

E-mail: pero@mip.polimi.it

Valeria Piro is a post-doc research fellow at the Department of Social and Political Sciences of the University of Milan, and a teaching fellow of Qualitative research methods at the University of Bologna. She is currently a member of the ERC project ‘Share’ (‘Seizing the Hybrid Areas of work by Representing self-Employment’). She received her Ph.D. in Sociology at the University of Milan. Her main research interests include labour and migration processes, trade unions and other forms of labour organizing, overlapping between times and spaces of life and work.

E-mail: valeria.piro@unimi.it.

Elena Rocca works in the Innovation department of CAUTO social cooperative. She graduated cum laude in theoretical philosophy from Ca' Foscari University in Venice and in Ethnography and Social Anthropology from EHESS in Paris, and has a second degree master in Network Management and Service Co-Design from Bicocca University in Milan and a course in Service Design for Business from Politecnico University in Milan. Since 2009 she has been working on social project design in different contexts, from social cooperatives to public sector agencies, and on different topics, ranging from communication to international cooperation and development.

E-mail: elena.rocca@cauto.it

Anne-Iris Romens is a postdoctoral research fellow at the Department of Sociology and Social Research of the University of Milan-Bicocca. She holds a PhD in Social Sciences from the University of Padua. She was a visiting fellow at the University of Strasbourg in France and worked for over three years as a research assistant at the Council of Europe. Her research interests regard migration, care, gender, discrimination, labour processes and remote work analysed from an intersectional perspective.

E-mail: anneiris.romens@unimib.it

Silvia Sacchetti has a PhD from the University of Birmingham (UK). She is currently Associate Professor at the Department of Sociology and Social Research at the University of Trento (Italy) where she teaches courses in third sector organisations and in international political economy. Silvia is Co-Chief Editor of the Journal of Entrepreneurial and Organizational Diversity and Board member of the European Management Journal. She is a member of EMES and of the European Research Board of the International Cooperative Alliance.

E-mail: silvia.sacchetti@unitn.it

Andrea Signoretti is a Senior Assistant Professor in Economic Sociology at the University of Trento, Italy. His research develops around organizational systems, human resource management and industrial relations in comparative perspective including lean production, cooperative employment relations, employment conditions of vulnerable groups. His works have been published in journals such as British Journal of Industrial Relations, Human Resource Management Journal, Economic and Industrial Democracy, European Journal of Industrial Relations.

E-mail: a.signoretti@unitn.it

Volker Telljohann is senior researcher at IRES Emilia-Romagna. He received his Ph.D. in Social and Economic Sciences from the University of Osnabrück. His research activities focus on working conditions, new trends in local, national, and European industrial relations as well as on trade union cooperation at transnational level.

E-mail: volker.telljohann@er.cgil.it

Marco Zurru is associate professor in Economic Sociology at the Department of Political and Social Sciences of the University of Cagliari (Italy), where he teaches Sociology of Environment and Economic Sociology. He is member of the Executive Board of Centro Studi Relazioni Industriali, University of Cagliari. His area of research concerns the processes of internal and international mobility, the transformations of local welfare and the impact on territorial gaps, the relations between the formal and informal economy, the different paths of local development and the importance of the Foundational Economy as the material basis of welfare and social cohesion.

E-mail: zurru@unica.it